About Deep Yellow Limited

Deep Yellow Limited is an ASX-listed, Namibian-focussed advanced stage uranium exploration company. It also has a listing on the Namibian Stock Exchange.

Deep Yellow's operations in Namibia are conducted by its 100% owned subsidiary Reptile Uranium Namibia (Pty) Ltd (RUN). Its flagship is the high grade alaskite Omahola Project where mining studies are being conducted and the next phase of metallurgical test work is being planned as inputs into a Pre-Feasibility Study. The timing of the completion of a pre-feasibility study is largely dependent on the choice of preferred processing method and the identification of additional recoverable resources. It is also evaluating the early stage development of its Tubas Sand uranium deposit utilising the physical beneficiation techniques it successfully tested in 2011.

In Australia the Company owns the Napperby Uranium Project and other exploration tenements in the Northern Territory and in the Mount Isa District in Queensland.
