This policy has been adopted to provide a safe and confidential environment for people to raise any such concerns without fear of detriment.

3 How does this policy interact with the Australian whistleblower laws?

By making a disclosure in accordance with this policy, you may be protected under the Australian whistleblower laws if the type of matter you disclose is protected by those laws.

While this policy principally deals with internal disclosures, the protections afforded by the Australian whistleblower laws also include some types of disclosure made to external parties, such as:

- (a) legal representatives, to obtain advice or representation about the Australian whistleblower laws;
- (b) ASIC, APRA or the ATO; or
- (c) MPs or journalists, where you have reasonable grounds to believe that making the further disclosure would be in the public interest or the information concerns a substantial and imminent danger to the health or safety to one or more persons or to the natural environment, but only where prior disclosure has been made to ASIC, APRA or the ATO and Deep Yellow in certain circumstances. It is important you understand strict criteria apply and we recommend you obtain legal advice before making a disclosure to one of these people.

An eligible whistleblower will also qualify for the protections under the Corporations Act and the Taxation Administration Act if they make a disclosure that qualifies for protection under those Acts (please refer to Schedules 1 and 2 of this policy for when a disclosure qualifies for protection, and the protections available under the Corporations Act and the Taxation Administration Act). A whistleblower can still qualify for protections under these Acts even if their disclosure turns out to be incorrect.

For more information about the Australian whistleblower laws (including how to make a disclosure directly to ASIC or the ATO), see the information available on the ASIC website (including Information Sheet 239 How ASIC handles whistleblower reports) and the ATO website.

4 Who can make a disclosure?

You can make a disclosure that may qualify for protection under the Australian whistleblower laws if you are or were:

- an officer or employee of Deep Yellow, including permanent, part-time, fixed-term or temporary employees or interns and secondees;
- a supplier of goods and services to Deep Yellow (whether paid or unpaid), including their employees (for example, contractors, consultants, service providers and business partners); or
- an associate of Deep Yellow; or
- a parent, grandparent, child, grandchild, sibling, spouse or dependent of any of those people.

Other Personnel and Third Parties can also make disclosures in accordance with this policy but may not be protected under the Australian whistleblower laws.

5 What can a disclosure be about?

We encourage people to report a broad range of matters. Whilst not all matters will qualify for protection under the Australian whistleblower laws, we will treat all disclosures made under this policy in the same way. However, disclosures cannot be made under this policy relating solely to personal work-related grievances.

To be protected under the Australian whistleblower laws, you must make an eligible disclosure and must have reasonable grounds for that disclosure. You can still qualify for protection if your disclosure turns out to be incorrect, but you will not be protected if you make a deliberately false disclosure.

Disclosures do not have to be about breaking the law. Eligible disclosures can be about misconduct or an improper state of affairs or circumstances in relation to Deep Yellow. Without limiting the type of conduct that can be disclosed under this policy, examples of conduct that it is appropriate to disclose under this policy includes conduct that is:

- (a) fraudulent or corrupt, such as money laundering or misappropriation of funds;
- (b) in breach of a law administered by ASIC or APRA, and a law of the Commonwealth punishable by 12 months imprisonment or more. Examples of conduct in breach of the Corporations Act could include:
 - (i) insider trading;
 - (ii) insolvent trading;
 - (iii) breach of the continuous disclosure rules;
 - (iv) failure to keep accurate financial records;
 - (v) falsification of accounts; or
 - (vi) failure of a director, or another officer, to act with the care and diligence a reasonable person would exercise, or to act in good faith in the best interests of the corporation, or to give notice of any material personal interest relating to the affairs of Deep Yellow;
- (c) illegal, such as theft, the sale or use of prohibited substances, violence or threatened violence, harassment or criminal damage to property;
- (d) unethical, such as acting dishonestly, altering records without cause or permission, making false entries in records, engaging in questionable financial practices, offering or accepting a bribe;

- (e) contrary to, or a serious breach of, codes and practices (including work practices) of Deep Yellow;
- (f) potentially damaging to Deep Yellow, including conduct that may cause financial or non-financial loss to Deep Yellow, or is otherwise detrimental to its interests; or
- (g) engaging in or threatening to engage in detrimental conduct against a person who has made a disclosure, or is believed or suspected to have made, or be planning to make, a disclosure under this policy.

As noted above, disclosures about solely personal work-related grievances are not covered by this policy and do not qualify for protection under the Australian whistleblower laws unless they also relate to any detriment or threat of detriment to you.

However, such a disclosure may still qualify for protection if:

- it is a 'mixed' disclosure – meaning it includes information indicating other misconduct beyond your personal circumstances (for example, widespread bullying or harassment);
- Deep Yellow has breached employment or other laws punishable by imprisonment for a period of 12 months or more;
- Deep Yellow has engaged in conduct that represents a danger to the public;
- you suffer from or are threatened with, detriment for making a disclosure; or
- you seek legal advice or representation about the operation of the Australian whistleblower laws.

If your disclosure is solely a personal work-related grievance, you should make the disclosure to the Managing Director/CEO (for persons in Australia) and to the Human Resources Officer (for persons in Namibia). Further information about Deep Yellow's workplace policies can be obtained from the Company Secretary.

If unsure whether a grievance is a disclosable under this policy, or a personal work-related grievance that is more appropriately managed through a relevant workplace behaviour policy of Deep Yellow, you can seek guidance from the Whistleblower Officer.

6 Who can I make a disclosure to?

If you are concerned about those limited circumstances in which your email might be accessed, you may prefer to make your disclosure verbally or by mail.

You can make your disclosure anonymously (and stay anonymous throughout and after any investigation) and still qualify for protection under the Australian whistleblower laws.

- STEP 2 The Whistleblower Officer (or Chairman) will determine whether your disclosure is covered by this policy and, if appropriate, appoint an investigator with no personal interest in the matter to conduct an investigation. If required, an external investigator will be appointed to ensure the investigation is handled fairly and independently or where specialist skills or expertise are necessary.
- STEP 3 The investigator(s) will conduct the investigation in an objective and fair manner, ensuring that they give any employee who is mentioned in the disclosure an opportunity to respond to the allegations prior to any adverse findings being made against them. Those employees are also entitled to access the support services referred to in section 10.
- If you can be contacted (including through anonymous channels), we will give you regular updates on the status of the investigation as appropriate, with the frequency and timing of such updates depending on the nature of your disclosure.

- STEP 4 The outcome of the investigation will be reported to the Board (protecting your identity, if applicable) and may, if the Whistleblower Officer considers appropriate, be shared with you and any persons affected.

We encourage you to raise any concerns you have about the investigation of your disclosure, your treatment or any aspects of this policy with the Whistleblower Officer or the person to whom you made your disclosure, and we will consider whether any further steps need to be taken.

9 Protection for whistleblowers

9.1 Identity protections

If you make a protected disclosure, it is illegal for anyone to identify you or disclose any information that is likely to lead to you being identified, unless:

- (a) any disclosure of information does not include your identity and is reasonably necessary to investigate your disclosure (but all reasonable steps must be taken to reduce the risk that you will be identified from the information);
- (b) it is necessary to obtain legal advice about your disclosure and the whistleblower laws, in which case, we can pass the information on to our lawyer;
- (c) we need to disclose the information to the Australian Federal Police; ASIC; APRA; or the ATO, if the disclosure concerns Deep Yellow's tax affairs or the tax affairs of an associate of Deep Yellow; or
- (d) you consent to that disclosure.

9.2 Confidentiality and secure record keeping

Subject to the exceptions allowed under section 9.1 of this policy or otherwise by law, the identity of a whistleblower (or information that is likely to lead to their identity becoming known) must be kept confidential at all times during and after the investigation (including in any reporting to the Board or to any persons affected). All persons responsible for or involved in an investigation must take all reasonable steps to reduce the risk that a whistleblower will be identified.

Deep Yellow will keep your identity and your disclosure confidential and secure by:

- (a) obscuring your name and identifying features from any internal reporting about your disclosure (unless you agree for your identity to be known);
- (b) limiting access to all paper and electronic documents and materials to those directly involved in managing and investigating the disclosure; and
- (c) ensuring that anyone who is involved in handling and investigating your disclosure is aware of the confidentiality requirements.

Information relating to the disclosure will be stored confidentially and securely, and only available for access by the Whistleblower Officer and others involved in receiving, managing and investigating the disclosure.

However, Deep Yellow is entitled to take steps that:

- (a) are reasonably necessary to protect you from detriment (for example, moving you to another office to protect you from detriment if you have made a disclosure about your immediate work area); or

 - (ii) commencing a formal investigation.
- (d) Advise when conduct raised in a disclosure, if proven, could lead to allegations of misconduct being made against an employee the subject of a disclosure, leading to possible disciplinary consequences, including termination of employment.
- (e) Provide details of the persons who can be contacted with issues, queries and concerns.
- (f) Advise the outcome of any investigation into the disclosure, in accordance with section 8, however, will not provide a copy of the investigation report or associated material.

Deep Yellow encourages whistleblowers, or other persons, to raise issues or ask questions if:

A breach of this policy may also amount to a civil or criminal contravention under the Australian whistleblower laws, giving rise to significant penalties.

We encourage you to raise any concerns about non-compliance with this policy with the Whistleblower Officer in the first instance. You can also lodge any concerns to ASIC or the ATO for investigation.

13 Board reporting

The Whistleblower Officer must provide the Board at least quarterly reports on all active whistleblower matters, including information on:

- (a) the number and nature of disclosures made in the last quarter (for example, by who, who to and matter type);

- (c) the status of any investigations underway;
- (d) the frequency of communications with disclosers;
- (e) the outcomes of completed investigations and actions taken; and

The Whistleblower Officer must at all times observe the obligations of identity protection and confidentiality as outlined in sections 9.1 and 9.2 of this policy when reporting to the Board.

The Board will also be immediately informed of any material incidents reported under this policy, including any information that may be materially price sensitive in accordance with the Company's Continuous Disclosure Policy.

14 Training

Our Whistleblower Officer and all eligible recipients of disclosures must attend compulsory training organised by Deep Yellow on responding appropriately to disclosures made under this policy.

Our employees must attend compulsory training on our whistleblower program which will include information on how to make a disclosure, what the disclosure can be about, to whom a disclosure can make it, the protections and support available and when further information or independent legal advice might be sought.

15 Policy review

This policy will be reviewed by the Board with the assistance of the Whistleblower Officer annually to ensure it is operating effectively. Any recommended changes must be approved by the Board.

Schedule 1 – Protections for whistleblowers under the Australian Corporations Act

1. Protection under the Corporations Act

- 1.1 Eligible whistleblowers may be able to obtain certain statutory protections and immunities where they make a disclosure that qualifies for protection under Part 9.4AAA of the Corporations Act.
- 1.2 This Schedule 1 provides an overview of the requirements that must be met for a disclosure of information to qualify for protection under Part 9.4AAA of the Corporations Act. Although many of the protections and immunities are mirrored in this policy, the protections in Part 9.4AAA of the Corporations Act are in addition to protections and immunities specified in this policy.
- 1.3 This Schedule 1 is intended for information purposes only and should not be taken as the provision of legal advice in respect of the operation and application of the whistleblower regime in Part 9.4AAA of the Corporations Act. Legal advice should be obtained from an independent legal practitioner.

2. Conditions that must be met for a disclosure to qualify for protection under the Corporations Act

- 2.1 The information disclosed relates to conduct by a regulated entity (a term defined by the Corporations Act that includes a company, such as the Company and its Australian incorporated subsidiaries) or a related body corporate.
- 2.2 The whistleblower making the disclosure is an eligible whistleblower, defined in the Corporations Act as an individual who is, or has been, any of the following:
 - (a) An officer or employee of the regulated entity.
 - (b) A supplier of services or goods to the regulated entity (whether paid or unpaid), including their employees.
 - (c) An associate of the regulated entity.
 - (d) A relative, dependant or spouse of an individual referred to in paragraph 2.2(a) to paragraph 2.2(c) of this Schedule 1.
- 2.3 The disclosure is made to a person who is eligible to receive a disclosure under Part 9.4AAA of the Corporations Act, which includes:
 - (a) A person authorised by a regulated entity to receive a disclosure, which for the Company is the Whistleblower Officer.
 - (b) An officer or senior manager of a regulated entity.
 - (c) ASIC or APRA.
 - (d) An appointed auditor of a regulated entity, which for the Company is the entity identified in Section 7.3(b).
 - (e) In limited circumstances, to a journalist or a member of a federal, state or territory Parliament (see paragraph 3.1 of this Schedule 1).

2.4 Subject to paragraph 2.5 of this Schedule 1, the disclosure is about matters the eligible whistleblower has reasonable grounds to suspect may concern the following conduct by the regulated entity (these matters are described in Section 5 as Disclosable Matters):

- (a) Misconduct⁸ or an improper state of affairs or circumstances in relation to the regulated entity (or a related body corporate).
- (b) Conduct that constitutes an offence against, or contravention of, a law administered by ASIC or APRA (see Schedule 3 for an outline of the laws administered by ASIC or APRA).
- (c) Conduct that constitutes an offence against another law of the Commonwealth punishable by more than 12 months imprisonment.
- (d) Conduct that is a danger to the public or the financial system.

2.5 The disclosure is not a personal work-related grievance, being a disclosure of information concerning a grievance about any matter in relation to the eligible whistleblower's employment, or former employment, or having (or tending to have) implications for the whistleblower personally. However, a personal work-related grievance will be disclosure qualifying for protection under Part 9.4AAA of the Corporations Act if it either:

- (a) has significant implications for the regulated entity to which it relates, or wider ramifications than those that are personal to the whistleblower; or
- (b) relates to a grievance by the eligible whistleblower about detrimental conduct suffered or threatened due to a person believing or suspecting that a disclosure qualifying for protection under Part 9.4AAA of the Corporations Act has been made, may be made, is proposed to be made, or could be made.

2.6 A disclosure that meets the conditions in paragraph 2.1 to paragraph 2.5 of this Schedule 1 is referred to as a qualifying disclosure.

3. Other disclosures that qualify for protection under the Corporations Act

3.1 There are two further categories of disclosure that may also be protected under Part 9.4AAA of the Corporations Act:

- (a) In extreme cases, where an eligible whistleblower makes a disclosure to the journalist or a Member of Parliament in relation to a regulated entity. To be protected, the whistleblower must already have made a qualifying disclosure (see paragraph 2.6 of this Schedule 1), certain written notifications in respect of that qualifying disclosure must have been made by the eligible whistleblower to the body that received it, and either:
 - (i) the disclosure was in respect of a substantial and imminent danger to someone's health and safety, or the natural environment; or
 - (ii) disclosing the information was in the public interest.

⁸ Misconduct is defined in section 9 of the Corporations Act to include fraud, negligence, default, breach of trust and breach of duty.

- (b) If the whistleblower makes a disclosure of information to a legal practitioner for the purpose of obtaining legal advice or legal representation in relation to the operation of the whistleblower regime found in Part 9.4AAA of the Corporations Act. This category does not carry any of the requirements of the disclosure to be a qualifying disclosure (see paragraph 2.6 of this Schedule 1).

3.2 A disclosure that meets the conditions in paragraph 3.1 of this Schedule 1 is referred to as a protected disclosure.

4. Protections and immunities available where a qualifying or protected disclosure is made under the Corporations Act

Where a qualifying or protected disclosure is made (see paragraph 2.6 and paragraph 3.2 of this Schedule 1), Part 9.4AAA of the Corporations Act provides the following protections and immunities:

- (a) Protection of a whistleblower's identity (see paragraph 5 of this Schedule 1).
- (b) Protecting a whistleblower, or other person, from a range of detrimental conduct (often referred to as victimisation or retaliation) because another person believes or suspects that a qualifying or protected disclosure has been made, may be made, is proposed to be made, or could be made (see paragraph 6 of this Schedule 1).
- (c) Providing a whistleblower with a range of legal immunities for making a qualifying or protected disclosure.

5. Protection of the eligible whistleblower's identity

5.1 Part 9.4AAA of the Corporations Act contains a number of provisions to protect the identity of a whistleblower who has made a qualifying or protected disclosure by:

- (a) Allowing for whistleblowers to make anonymous disclosures.
- (b) Subject to certain exceptions that authorise the disclosure of a whistleblower's identity (including with the whistleblower's consent or to a relevant regulator or the Australian Federal Police, or to a legal practitioner for the purpose of obtaining advice or representation in relation to the operation of Part 9.4AAA of the Corporations Act), making it a criminal and civil penalty offence for a person to whom a qualifying or protected disclosure is made, or any other person who has obtained the information directly or indirectly because of the qualifying disclosure, to disclose:
 - (i) the identity of the whistleblower; or
